SCENE 1

You, your husband, and your son flip through a family photo book. You see a photo of your father, and are reminded of when you first arrived in Canada.

Mom: When I first moved to Canada I went to so many places to get my banking done.

Son: That sounds so hard!

Mom: But then we switched to the bank we're with now and got everything we needed in one place.

You give your son a warm smile.

SCENE 2

Your son is learning chess from his Grandpa. You sit next to them, watching and helping. Your son is frustrated and complains about how hard it is to learn chess.

Grandpa: This is hard?! When we first came to Canada things were a lot harder than this!

You roll your eyes. You think: not this story again.

Grandpa: No bank account. No credit card. It took going to so many places before we got everything set up.

You decide to interject.

Mom: Actually, you just went to the bank and got everything we needed in one place!

You give him a warm smile.
